The proximity of the Thames means there are ample opportunities for canoeing, kayaking and paddleboarding, which – just like the sports, drama and music – are inclusive, with ‘down-to-earth’ children participating at every level. (A current parent reports: ‘My son plays an instrument with more enthusiasm than talent, but he has always been encouraged to perform and given a platform to do so.’) Singing is huge here and 120 pupils are members of senior choirs, not to mention the pop ensemble. As for parental engagement, events are extremely well attended: the fathers’ lunch at the RAC Club numbers 220-plus, and the summer ball’s 400 tickets sell out in a week. And now that the school has gone fully co-ed, the dancing may improve!
