

Great for outdoor pursuits

Moulsford School

The Swallows and Amazons riverside setting of Moulsford in Oxfordshire provides a different dimension to prep school life, and is highly appealing to the boys attending. Thanks to being on the banks of the Thames, pupils regularly venture up the river to 'Goose Poo Island' in kayaks and canoes, and on paddle boards, encouraged by the staff's very own ex-double Olympian bobsleighter. During the summer term, pupils are out on the river each week, including the Year 2s who spend the first part of term learning skills in the pool before heading out to the Thames. There are plenty of adventurous activities to take part in, including Forest School for Pre-Prep, and an indoor climbing wall. With masses of opportunities for fire building, whittling, making bows and arrows, and raft-building, the children take full advantage of their idyllic surroundings.

moulsford.com

Other contenders:

Bilton Grange

Eagle House School