Welcome!

Tonight we want to transport you back in time and into another world! Our story begins during the height of World War Two when children are being evacuated from the towns to the relative safety of the countryside. For four lucky children, sent to a large house with a kindly owner but a fearsome housekeeper, adventure awaits just on the other side of an ordinary-looking wardrobe!

As many of you are already aware, this year the pupils have been cast in four groups, each of which take control of the story telling for a separate Act of the play. This means not just one White Witch, for example, but three! I hope you're paying attention! Please bear with them while we switch between Acts!

Thank you for supporting the boys this evening. Please do remember that they will feed off the support you can give them as an audience! Feel free to clap whenever you like and if you happen to spot a joke somewhere along the way, do give it a laugh!

We hope you enjoy the performance!

Ash Edwards - Head of Drama

This has not only been an opportunity for the boys to experience a school production and work on their acting skills. Working with the Art and DT departments the pupils have designed their own 'headpieces' which form part of their outfit as Narnian characters. The boys have also spent time helping to ensure that their costumes are correct for their role. A huge thank you to the staff who were involved in making this possible. Some of the headpiece designs can be seen over the next few pages.

Thank you for coming to support Year 7 - please enjoy the show!

Events at Moulsford are always supported by incredible numbers of staff, without whom this performance would not be possible. The hours that people have put in, both before the show and each night has been incredible and there are some key people who I would like to thank in particular.

I am hugely grateful for the time that Kate Beardall and Richard Squire have put in to design and built the set. As you may know, our previous set designer, Jess Roberts, left the school last year to pursue a new career and I am incredibly impressed the the quality of the staging hasn't diminished whatsoever during this transition.

Similarly, a crack-team of costumiers was assembled for this play namely Lauren Severin, Dawn Thackeray, Katherine Verrill, Tilly Cummingsand Fiona Thatcher. They have made a challenging task look very straightforward and their positive attitude was certainly a huge benefit to the process!

Karen Braden has also given up an incredible amount of her limited time to assist in the musical elemenrts of the play. The Drama and Music departments have always looked to collaborate on projects like this and since arriving at Moulsford Karen has only raised the bar even higher!

Beyond this there is a small army of other staff that I would like to thank, for everything from supervising the boys backstage every night to running the bar and acting as stage hands.

A massive thank you from me and the boys to all these staff!
